PROFILE OVERVIEW

Mr. Suggitt was called to the Bar in 2024 by the Honourable Society of the Inner Temple and joined chambers in September of the same year. He is currently undertaking a common law pupillage under the supervision of Mr Nick Cockrell.

Prior to his legal career, Mr. Suggitt gained invaluable experience within the criminal justice system, having investigated and presented evidence in several high-profile trials across the Northwest, including cases involving firearms murders, attempted murders, and manslaughter.

Building on this foundation, Mr. Suggitt is developing a dynamic practice, with a particular focus on Criminal Law. He accepts instructions in all areas of criminal representing the Prosecution and Defence in Magistrates' and Crown Court proceedings.

In addition to his criminal law practice, Mr. Suggitt also accepts instructions in family law matters, representing local authorities, children, and parents in public law proceedings, as well as parties involved in private family law cases. Furthermore, he is active in Civil Law, representing both Claimants and Defendants in a range of civil disputes.
